

Outcomes and indicators of the WA/FAN GTF programme as agreed at the Ghana global meeting

1. Strong and well-functioning CSOs and CSO networks capable of influencing the design, implementation and evaluation of effective WASH policies at All levels
  - a. X number of CSO and CSO Networks have organisational structures and systems in place (advocacy strategies, plans, capacity assessments etc.)
  - b. At least X number of CSO and CSO networks have developed skills to implement their advocacy agenda

2. CSOs (including those representing marginalized groups) are effectively engaging in decision making processes affecting the WASH Sector
  - a. Evidence of policies and practice reflecting pro-poor changes and recommendations due to CSO advocacy actions (WASH specific, marginalised)
  - b. At least X number of CSOs are participating consistently and adding value to dialogue and decision making platforms/processes at their intervention level

3. Informed and empowered people are better able to demand accountability and responsiveness from Governments and service providers in the WASH sector
  - a. Evidence of people (including poor and marginalised) being informed and better able to demand accountability from Governments and service providers in WASH
  - b. Evidence of citizens (pressure groups/platforms etc) able to demand accountability and responsiveness from Governments and service providers

4. Governments and service providers are more accountable to (i.e. willing and able) citizens and end users in the WASH sector
  - a. Evidence of increased availability and access to sector information at appropriate levels (in 16 focal countries)
  - b. Governments systematically involve citizens in constructive decision making processes resulting in legal regulatory frameworks in accountability and responsiveness. (joint planning, implementation and evaluation – standards for accountability)

Next steps

We unanimously agreed that the importance of the regional meeting in stepping down the new orientations of the programme, develop the regional perspective which the partners plans would fit in and discuss programme and contract management issues. This will be an opportunity in most of the cases to sign the collaboration agreements and develop ways of collecting baseline information that needs to be submitted to DFID. Following the regional meetings, proposals and budgets will be revised and submitted to DFID.